This is a book that Oprah would definitely call a must read for all women. It is a self help book that covers a lot of ground, in a very direct manner, in an easy to read format. It covers skin care and personal hygiene tips that are rarely discussed openly but thought about daily. It really goes into detail about what to do about everything from vaginal odor to unwanted facial hair and everything else in between. It will help the reader to realize that women deal with a lot of the same personal issues, as it relates to our bodies, and that there are options and ways to resolve these issues. I guarantee this little book will help the reader to re-evaluate and re-invent herself from head to toe regardless as to how secure or insecure she may feel about herself at the moment.
