These screening profiles are comprised of three tests which give a clear analysis and profile of students' skills in reading, mathematics and reasoning at ages 11 and 13. Each test is simple and quick to administer and mark, and can be used singly or as part of the complete battery. The profile generated by the tests complements and gives an external reference to National Curriculum assessments obtained at the end of Key Stage 2. Each of the tests is available in parallel forms A and B, for administration in about 35 minutes. All of the questions are multiple-choice, allowing quick, accurate and unambiguous marking. This set is composed of 20 copies. The Reasoning test includes a wide range of questions, using verbal and non-verbal (numerical and visual) modes, and assessing both deductive and inductive reasoning skills. It can be used as a predictor of future school attainment.
