Help and Hope for Those Who Grieve It can happen suddenly or take what seems an eternity. No matter how it comes, the death of a loved one hits like an avalanche, pouring down thunderous heartache and resulting in constant pain, sadness, and emptiness. The questions come at breakneck speed until you finally have to ask your-self, "Will I ever be whole again?" This wonderfully sensitive book by Sandra Aldrich is not written from impersonal observation but from her own grueling experience with the loss of her husband to cancer. Her insight is comforting, her wisdom soothing, and her direction inspiring. If you or someone you know has lost a loved one to death, this survival book will point the way to recovery. "In this book, Sandra Aldrich opens the door of her own grief experience, welcoming the grieving and serving as a travel companion along our journey toward healing. " -Elisa Morgan, President/CEO, Mothers of Preschoolers International, Inc. "Sandra Aldrich delivers practical advice, offers warm answers, shares tender moments from her own heart, and reminds us all that God can and will bring good things out of our hurt. " -Susie Shellenberger, Editor, Brio magazine, Focus on the Family "I found this book uplifting, for at the center of Sandra's story is a man named Jesus who died as God, providing the human race with hope and life in another world." -John Canine, Director, Maximum Living
